WATER SUPPLY REPORT IN CITY ADVISED TO TAP FISHKILL AND WAPPINGERS CREEKS

Above Fishkill and Wappingers Falls—Also Reel in Jansen Creek—What Has Happened to the Town's Water Supply?

Stated—Cost of Beginning, $40,000; $600—Other Sources in Reserve.

The special commission consisting of William H. Burr, Eudolph Hering and John B. Freeman, appointed by Mayor Low last December to recommend new sources of water supply for this city, has completed its report, which is so voluminous that Commissioner Monroe has decided to have it printed before making it public.

The report will not be laid before the Board of Estimate until the first of the month.

The recommendations of the commission makes were learned yesterday. Professor Burr and his colleagues will suggest the taking of new supplies from the eastern tributaries of the Hudson, namely, upper Fishkill Creek, upper Wappingers Creek and the upper Roeliff Jansen as a first source, and that as the needs of the city demand the head waters of the Esopus Creek in the Catskill Mountains be tapped. A third means of supply should be the pumping and filtering of water from the Hudson River near Hyde Park.

The Commissioners say that they have investigated all other possible sources but that none contain the advantages of the three named. From these three sources, it is estimated by the commission, an additional supply of 60,000,000 gallons a day can be obtained. The cost of building the necessary dams, reservoirs and aqueducts and to acquire the lands and rights for this supply would be so great that the commission will propose that as a beginning provision should be made for a 200,000,000 gallon supply. It is estimated that this could be furnished at a cost of about $20,000,000.

The first region to be tapped, in the commission's opinion, should be the Fishkill river; but the rights whereby the Catskill waters can be obtained should be acquired at once even though it may not be necessary to make use of that territory for some years to come. To bring the water from the Catskills to this city the plans provide for a tunnel under the Hudson.

The preference of the commission for the upland water to that of the Hudson is unanimous, although the report will say that the Hudson water can be made pure and palatable by filtration. A large part of the report will be taken up with the question of filtration and strong recommendations will be made that the city should begin at once to construct filters for the Croton waters and for all other waters taken from surface streams.

The commission will suggest the building of filtration plants for each of the new sources it has decided to tap.

The report will deal exhaustively with the requirements for Brooklyn, Queens and Richmond. The examinations of the commission show that the water resources of Long Island can be so developed as to take care of the needs of Brooklyn and Queens and that this course will be cheaper than bringing additional supplies for this part of the city from the north, while for Richmond it will be suggested that the mainland of New Jersey will be the cheapest and most available means of supply.

Long Lost Bowie Gold Mine Located.

Menardville, Tex., Nov. 15.—There is some excitement here over the report that the long lost Bowie gold mine, which is said to have contained one of fabulous richness, has been rediscovered. A prospector has brought in a large piece of gold bearing quartz which is said to have been taken from the lost mine. The property is situated near Menardville.

MORE THAN 26 WERE KILLED.

ALL THE DEAD IN THE ILLINOIS CENTRAL WRECK NEGROES.

Express Dashed Into the Rear Car of an Accommodation, Killing More Than a Score of Section Hands—Wreck Took Fire—Bodies Can't Be Identified.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15.—It is doubtful if it will be known definitely how many persons were killed in the railroad wreck last night on the Illinois Central at Kentwood, La., as the killed are mainly negro section hands and the bodies were badly burned. The number of killed is estimated at from twenty-five to forty, of whom only fourteen have been identified. Twenty-three wounded negroes, reached the Charity Hospital in New Orleans this morning.

Their reports would indicate that there were seventy-five negroes in the last car and that the killed number fully forty.

The Macon City accommodation was on its way to Macon City. The end coach was filled with negro section hands who had just been paid off and who were going to town to spend their money. Through some one's error the Chicago express for New Orleans, going at the rate of fifty miles an hour, dashed into the accommodation train. The last two coaches were completely demolished. The engine of the express was damaged, but the rest of the train was unhurt. The passengers of the express were bruised slightly by the shock, but none was seriously injured.

On the accommodation, however, the cars were split in half and the passengers were crushed and mangled. The engine set fire to the splinters and the wreck was in flames a few seconds. It was with difficulty that the wounded were rescued from the fire and it is feared that several died in the flames.

When the burning wreckage was removed it disclosed a number of burned limbs and heads, the rest of the bodies being consumed, rendering it impossible to determine exactly how many had been killed. But White, the fireman of the express train, stuck to his engine and was killed. The wounded negroes were sent to New Orleans for treatment. Several of them will die.

LAWYER IN STRANGE CELLAR.

He Fell Into a Barrel and It Took Two Cops to Pull Him Out.

Mrs. John G. Goppsil, wife of a former postmaster of Jersey City, who lives at 700 Montgomery street, that city, was awakened about 3 o'clock yesterday morning by a racket in the cellar. She called the police and Policemen Wohlleben and Kahle, who were doing duty near by, responded. They made their way into the cellar with revolvers drawn, and in a dark corner they found a pair of legs and the head and shoulders of a man sticking out of an ash barrel. They gave a strong pull and the man and the barrel parted company. The cops took the intruder to the seventh precinct station, where he was booked as William Kiernan, 28 years old, lawyer, unmarried, living at 362 Pacific avenue. The police said he was intoxicated.

Kiernan was puzzled at first to account for his presence in the Goppsil ash barrel. He finally explained that he lived two doors from ex-Postmaster Goppsil's house two years ago. He forgot that he had moved to the Lafayette section and started to find his old house. He didn't have a key that would open Mr. Goppsil's front door, so he climbed through a window and fell down the cellar stairs.

He didn't recognize his surroundings and wandered about, seeking some avenue of escape. In his wanderings he fell into the barrel. He struggled to release himself but didn't make any headway, and shouted for help.

Kiernan was looked up as a disorderly person. Later he was released on bail.

Has Invented a Pneumatic Wheel.

ORANGE, N. J., Nov. 15.—Daniel F. Minahan, Jr., who is connected with the Edison works in West Orange, has just got a patent on a device designed to supersede the pneumatic tire. The wheel, instead of carrying a pneumatic tube around the tire, carries it in a steel frame around the axle of the carriage. All the air of the vehicle is therefore taken care of in the pneumatic tube at the axle and there is no danger of puncture.

The Wanamaker Store

Unbidden Enthusiasm Pictures From Paris

The future writer of a history of the American People will miss an important point if he fails to record the relation of WANAMAKER'S to the Public of the entire United States. No other name in trade is known to an equal number of Americans. The WANAMAKER constituency is co-extensive with the country.

Therefore, the WANAMAKER STORES are expected to be interesting—a great compliment to a faithful and successful past. This feeling was plainly expressed last week in the furore of interest over the pictures from this year's Paris Salons. No announcement had been made. The Picture Gallery was all confusion. Pictures coming down and going up. And yet there was so much expectancy and interest in the air that each canvas had its own group of earnest observers as soon as it found its place.

The story is this: Each year of the past decade we have brought pictures from the Paris Salons. But the selections of this year from the Salon of the Société des Artistes Français, held in the Grand Palais on the Champs Elysees, and from the Société Nationale des Beaux Arts, on the Avenue d'Antin form a far more numerous and important collection than had been brought to this country in any previous year.

In all, some Two Hundred and Fifty Pictures. Many of them so large as to be especially gallery compositions. Neither of our great stores had accommodations for all, and therefore the collection is divided, and from time to time pictures will be interchanged between the stores.

In the Picture Gallery nearly every picture is new, many have found places in the Paris Salons, some very large canvases—old and new—are in the Rotunda.

No opportunity to study 'contemporary French Art in a single exhibition equals that now presented. Artists, connoisseurs, art-lovers, are cordially invited to view this collection at their convenience during usual business hours.

Catalogues are in preparation. Meantime the pictures have card-information attached to the frames. Fifth floor.

SILKS and VELVETS

Four Quite Extraordinary Groups

Just following a week of splendid offerings that caused the entire trade to marvel at WANAMAKER doings in silks, we are able to announce this still more stirring silk news, today.

Neat Fancy Jasper, or Gun Metal Silks
Rich All-Silk Printed Panné Velvets
Wide Black Dress Velvets
Elaborately Embroidered Silk Waist-Patterns—$26.00 worth, for $12.00.

Our enormous silk distribution last week hurried the importers and manufacturers into disposing of these at practically our own prices. They are all new and perfect, choice in patterns; and exactly the silks and velvets most wanted at this time—though that is for you to judge. Here are the items in detail:

Neat Fancy Jasper Silks
Were $1, NOW 65c and 75c

We have been selling more Jasper than all other kinds of Fancy Silks put together. These are the best quality, the most desirable at a dollar. About a hundred pieces, six thousand yards—in all twenty neat styles, in white, medium and dark gray effects. Just the sorts for entire dresses—as well as waists.

27-inch Black Dress Velvets
Were $3, NOW $1.75

Choice Selected Velvets—absolutely new and perfect; only recently of the looms; perfect shade of black; three-needle, all cut, all shaped, ready for making. One of the best makers in the world. Fine, serviceable Velvets for entire costume, jackets, capes, and the many other black velvet uses.

Embroidered Silk Waist-Patterns
Were $20, NOW $10 each

Fine assortment of rich and elaborate Embroidered, Louisiana, Silk Waist-Patterns, in white and light colors. Excellent for holiday-giving—nicely boxed; all cut and shaped, ready for making. Just sixty all told; some of the finest embroidered waist-patterns in the North. $20 worth, now at $10 each. Rotunda.

All-silk Printed Panné Velvets
Were $2.50, NOW 85c

Choice all-silk Printed Panné Velvets of superior quality, in more than eighty fine designs. The majority of which are charming Cachemire and Persian patterns, in most exquisite color-combinations of white, medium and dark gray effects. Also many simple black-and-white effects in neat designs. For waists and a house-gown, as well as for trimmings and millinery. 85c, worth $2.50.

When New York Sits Down To the Thanksgiving Feast

What An Array of CHINA There Will Be!

All the ships on all the oceans couldn't carry it. All the stores of Greater New York couldn't duplicate a tenth of it. It has been gathered during generations; and what will be newly bought this year is but a drop in the bucket.

But, if your china supply isn't right, that drop is of utmost importance, and it needs to be provided at once.

The pressure of more distinctly holiday wares is so great in our China Store that we have prepared a Pre-Thanksgiving China Sale, to lighten our regular stocks to make more room for holiday things. And the values offered today are equalled only by our great semi-annual sales. Such splendid values, just before Thanksgiving Day have probably never been known before.

Dinner Sets.

At $12.50, worth $30.—Theodore Haviland China Dinner Sets of 100 pieces, in two flower decorations, richly trimmed with blue and gold. $12.50, worth $30.—Theodore Haviland China Dinner Sets of 100 pieces, rose decoration with clouded gold edges. $12.50, worth $30.—Charles Field Haviland China Dinner Sets of 100 pieces, four decorations: borders of flowers in pink, blue and lavender; gold-traced handles. $12.50, worth $30.—Elite Limoges China Dinner Sets of 100 pieces, in floral decorations, clouded gold edges and handles.
